De-escalation Techniques and Emotionally Disturbed Individuals

Hampton Police Department
100 Brown Ave
Hampton NH 03842

October 8-9, 2019

This course is meant to help train first responders in de-escalation and crisis intervention techniques. The course will utilize the cutting-edge and evidence-based Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) Model, which is utilized by over 2,800 jurisdictions across the United States. The course will teach first responders how to utilize CIT as a control strategy to gain tactical control of a situation with the use of words.

Police departments across the country are being inundated with calls from individuals experiencing a mental health emergency. This course will review mental illness, suicide, and defusing/de-escalation techniques and is taught by Dr. Larry Kelly, a Public Safety Psychologist and Dr. Michael McCutcheon.

We offer hands on training through practice exercises and provide attendees with all instructional materials. You will learn by doing. No falling asleep in your chair while the instructor drones on about how great they are. Fast paced and interactive.
